

Don't Miss the DEADLINE!

Abstract submission deadline is approaching fast!
Don't miss out on your chance to be an important part of the symposium!
Submit your abstract for oral or poster presentation by 21st January 2019!

The 15th ISBR Symposium offers a unique opportunity to share the latest information on biotechnology advances in the context of sustainable applications for agriculture and food production. More information and submission links are here: <https://isbr2019.com/index.php/program/abstracts>

Early bird registrations for the Symposium received until 5th February 2019 saves you 100 Euros on conference fees which include full access to the program in Tarragona, Spain, a welcome reception, lunches and coffee breaks, Symposium documents and more. Get your registration started here: <https://isbr2019.com/index.php/registration>

Entries for the photo contest are due on February 29. Fresh and exciting images that reflect beauty, scientific excellence and diversity of work within the scope of the International Society for Biosafety Research will be displayed at the April 2019 Symposium, and prizes will be given to the three best photographs. For more information visit:

<http://isbr2019.com/index.php/photo-contest>

Connect with us

